
One Important Church System That's Free to Fix

Pastors and church looking leaders looking for church growth ideas often ask, "What should we work on first?" With so many things that need your attention, it can be tough to figure out where to start. For most people, we recommend you start with this one thing.

It's the one system that influences nearly everything else in your church. It affects everyone and it's crucial for reaching first time guests and connecting people into the life of the church.

And the good news, this system is free to fix. It won't cost you any money to make this dramatic improvement. Watch this short video to learn more.

Feel like your church should be growing, but it's not? From someone who used to be a pastor and church planter, I know it can be frustrating.

Ultimately, church growth is up to God. But are we doing everything we can to ensure our church is healthy? How do we overcome the barriers we feel are in front of us?

We know you care deeply about leading a healthy growing church because it means leading more people to Jesus. As a result we created a free guide to breaking barriers that will bring clarity and help begin to alleviate your frustrations.
